21 CARPENTER A HERITAGE BOUTIQUE HOTEL

Amongst the bustling streets where historic Chinatown meets the vibrant bustle of Clarke Quay, stands a notable remittance house, Chye Hua Seng Wee Kee. Founded in 1936 by prominent local philanthropist, Mr Lee Wee Nam and his brothers, this establishment was a place of special significance for the first generation of Singaporean immigrants.

More than simply money transfers, remittances were emotional connections and ties to their distant homes.

Today, reimagined and restored by award-winning architects WOHA, this remarkable structure has been revived as 21 Carpenter, an exquisite boutique hotel. With a dedication to preserving its rich heritage, 21 Carpenter proudly marks its resurgence as an iconic institution, bridging the past with the present.
